HeiParisMax Conference
The Evolving Dimensions of International and European Law

This event is organised by HeiParisMax, a partnership between Sciences Po Paris Law School, the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law, the IREDIES (Université Paris 1 Panthéon Sorbonne) and the Law Faculty of Heidelberg. It aims to create a network of researchers by facilitating a dialogue and circulation of ideas in an international and French-German context. It provides a platform for disseminating research projects and results, especially by early career researchers.

Academic coordinators: Évelyne LAGRANGE (Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne, IREDIES), Ute MAGER (University of Heidelberg), Anne PETERS (Director at the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law) and Jean D'ASPREMONT (Sciences Po Law School).

Online general registration for this conference is mandatory but free of charge and open now.

This event will be entirely in person, online participation will not be possible. Please note that passive French and English knowledge is necessary to follow the debates. Active command of French and English is necessary to participate in the discussions.
