Colloquium: Current Developments in International Law

Summer Semester 2015

Location: Max-Planck-Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law, Im Neuenheimer Feld 535, Heidelberg, Room 014.

Time: 6 – 8pm (c.t.)

Contact: Dr. Christian Marxsen (Marxsen@mpil.de)

This bi-weekly course addresses current developments in public international law. It aims to introduce students to selected topics of general international law scholarship as well as of specific research projects. The colloquium is open to all those interested in international law, newcomers to the field, more advanced students of the “Schwerpunktbereich Völkerrecht” as well as students from other faculties. The classes are taught by researchers of the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law. Classes are held either in English or German (as indicated by the language of the titles).

No registration required. Erasmus students may obtain a certificate for 2 ECTS points (requirements: presence and participation in class, short essay).
